THE INQUEST ON FRANCIS MALLON.

Coroner Martin theld an inquest yesterday in the case of Francis Mallon, the policeman who was shot and killed in Catherine-st. on the morning of May 4, by Michael Sullivan.

Officers Gilbride and Clanker and Joseph Sullivan testified to the facts as already published in The Tribune. The prisoner then took the stand and said that on the morning or May 3 he was sick, and having obtained leave of absence from his employer he accompanied a friend to Brooklyn, and returned to this city about 3 o'clock. He then went to his room, No. 32 Catherine-st., and slept until 11:30 or 12 o'clock. He went for a walk and returned and was within a few steps or home when Officer Mallon accosted him. saying: "What are you doing here?" He answered that he lived on that block. The officer then said: "Go along," and at the same time pushed him. Upon remonstrating with the officer he was struck several times with the officer's fist and he was also clubbed. Finally he was knocked down, and, he believes, it was then that he was shot on the head and it was Officer Mallon who shot him. He drew his own revolver and was on his knee getting up when he fired the first shot at the officer.

The verdict of the jury was that Officer Mallon officer.

The verdict of the jury was that Officer Mallon had come to his death while in the performance of his duty, from piscol shot wounds inflicted by Michael Sullivan, and the prisoner was committed to the Tombs without bail, to await the action of the Grand Jury.

CENTRALIZING THE DETECTIVE FORCE.

When the Pelice Commissioners recently announced that they were considering a plan to centralize the detective service in the department and to make all the precinct detectives report to Inspector Byrnes, much opposition was shown by captains in every part of the city. It was thought for a time that a decision of the matter could not be reached by the Board, because two of the Commissioners had been induced to side with the captains. Much surprise was caused at Police Headquarters, therefore, when the Board yesterday passed a resolution directing that all officers performing detectived uty in the city should be transferred to the Detective Bureau at Police Headquarters. Inspector Byrnes will assign detectives to duty wherever they may be required. The action of the Commissioners clothes Inspector Byrnes with more real power than has been held for a long time by the Superintendent. Police captains have been permitted to select the detectives in their precincts heretofore, and to direct all the local detective work. It has been often asserted, but never proved, that much of that work has consisted in levying blackmail on keepers of gambling Louses and other places frequented by disorderly persons. CASES OF SUICIDE.

CASES OF SUICIDE.

A Merrisania policeman heard a pistol shot in Railroad-ave, at 6 a. m. yesterday, and a hittle later found a man about thirty-five years old lying on the sidewalk. The man had shot himself in the right temple with a smail revolver which lay by his side. He admitted that he had tried to kill himself. Papers in his pockets showed that he was Gustave Gallasch, a teacher of music who had boarded at No. 91 Lewis-st. The police sent him to the Ninetyninth Street Hospital, where he died at 12:45 p. m. Gallasch was a native of Austria and was believed to be manarried. He had supported himself until recently by leading several singing societies in Newark, N. J. Habits or dissipation, however, caused him to lose his situation about two months ago. He had sought employment in vain since and had spent what money he could get in drink.

Ignatz Moses, a poorly dressed, rather ordinary-looking man, age twenty-four, was taken into custody yesterday by a sherin's officer. The order of arrest was issued at the complaint of Jones J. Stone, who charged him with improper relations with his wife for which he asked $10,000 damages. While the prisoner was in the sheriff's office he suddenly exclaimed: "I have taken is trychnine and am going to die." He was taken to the Chambers Street Hespital and relieved by the aid of a stomach-pump. The physician in charge declared that what the prisoner had taken was a harmless dose of homeopathic medicine. In default of $1,000 bail, Moses was taken to Ludlow Street Jail and locked up.

A SENSATIONAL STORY DENIED.

Sergeant Colegrove, of the Elizabeth Street Po-lice, who is acting captain in the absence of Cap-tain Petty from the city, said last night that so far as he knew there was no truth in the statements published yesterday that the Chinese population in as he knew there was no truth in the statements published yesterday that the Chinese population in Mott-st. was engaged in decoying young girls into opium dens for the worst purposes. "I have walked through that street afternoon on afternoon "said the sergeant, "often a half dozen times a day, and I have never seen anything tending to bear out the published assertions. I questioned to-day Detectives Kearns and English, of this precinct, regarding the matter and they corroborate my views. The only complaint of the kind made against the Chinese so far as I know, was one preferred about six weeks ago, when a father came here and said that his daughter had been decoyed into No. 21 Pell-st. by a Chinaman. After several attempts she was found there and taken before Justice Power, who, finding that she was under ixteen vears old, sent her to the House of Refuge, although she asserted that she was to marry the Chinaman, and he claimed her as his promised bride."

ARRESTED ON THE SCYTHIA.

A man who gave the name of Richard Davies, but who is charged with being James Rothwell, an escaped English forger, was arrested yest rday on board the steamer Scythia by United States Deputy Marshal Bernhard. The warrant for his arrest was assued at the request of the British Consul, who had been directed to secure a man whose description was sent, and who was accused of having obtained £300 by a forgery committed in Manchester, England. The man arrested says he never bore the name of Rothwell, and accounts for his arrest by saving that when he was at Queenstown on his way to this country from Liverpool he met a detective who asked him several questions, and who said he had a telegram directing him to arrest a man who resembled Davies. The detective finality allowed him to go on board the steamer. Davies says that he was a Welsh farmer, that he came to this country to visit a brother-in-law in Otho, and that he had never visited Manchester before he started for this country. He carried in a satchel a few books, among which was a work on extradition. Commissioner Osborn committed him for examination.

POISONED BY SEWER-GAS.

POISONED BY SEWER-GAS.

Complaints were made to the Board of Health recently that sewer-gas was escaping into the front and rear tenement houses at No. 222 West Seventeenth-st. A sanitary inspector found that there was a break in the sewer connection and that there floors of the cellars were covered with filth. The cowner of the building was ordered to make necessary repairs. Since then several occupants of the crowded buildings have suffered from blood-poisoning. Two children, Adele Ehrbald and Sarah McHale have died. Inspectors Heinmuller and Chapin went to the houses on Monday to investigate a reported case of typhus fever. They did not find any person suffering from the fever, but they saw five children and a young woman who were sick in bed from the effects of the poisonous sewergas, which had invaded their rooms. Workmen were busy making needed repairs, however, and it was decided that all danger would be over in a short time. Disintectants were used to counteract the poison in the air in the meantime. Complaints were made to the Board of Health re

"OUTSIDE" SPECULATION IN OIL.

A box-shaped apparatus is fastened above the New Street entrance of the New-York Mining Stock and National Petroleum Exchange. By an electric connection, the quotations of crude petroleum in Oil City are displayed in white letters in this box as soon as they are received in the Exchange by telegraph. Every day a crowd of "curb-stone" brokers, brokers' clerks and other persons gather in front of this indicator and carry on a miniature speculation based upon the changes displayed. Bets are made varying from 5 cents to $10, and many Stock Exchange members divert themselves by occasional participation in this open-air "Exchange." A large business is now done in "puts" and "calls" on petroleum, and this mitheod of speculation has become almost as common as it is in stocks. A prominent Stock Exchange operator yesterday sold "puts" for sixty days at 85 cents a barrel, charging 1 cent a barrel for the privilege. "OUTSIDE" SPECULATION IN OIL.

Reports of the impending sale of The World, which have been current for some time, seem now to be confirmed. Joseph Pulitzer, Editor and chief proprietor of The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, is said to be the purchaser. The price to be paid is near $350,000 for the newspaper, and in addition a lease is taken of the building at 6 per cent on its cost. William Henry Hurlbert, the Editor of The World, is expected to go abroad, on a liberal salary, as European representative of the Gould railway system, and Mr. Pulitzer has already been negotiating with well-known New-York newspaper writers like Joseph Howard, ir., for places on his staff. He will keep the paper Democratic, but aim to make it less political and more newsy. The price will almost certainly remain at two cents. Mr. Pulitzer has attained great success, and a fortune, in his conduct af a cheap newspaper in St. Louis.
